USE WHO/WHOM

1. Did you ever wonder (who, whom) she meant?
2. Tell me (who, whom) to thank for the flowers.
3. Mother said she doesn't know (who, whom) is coming.

USE Whose

4. Do you know (whom, who) I met in the bookstore?
5. How did you know (who, whom) was there?
6. To whom, whom do your instructions apply?
7. I don't know (whom, who) to approach.
8. The man (who, whom) lives next door came to dinner.
9. (Who, whom) were chosen by play directors in our town?
10. (Who, whom) can I blame for this trouble?

USE which

11. There is a person (who, whom) I advise.
12. Have you heard (whom, who) will receive the citizenship?
13. I was be (who, whom) I guessed.
14. Do you know (who, whom) sees this silly question?

USE They

15. He is the person (who, whom) I advise.
16. I wish I could find the person (who, whom) is guilty.

Example: Did he tell (who, whom) was coming?

Since he is the correct substitute for who, therefore, use who.

Example: He was coming is correct. Therefore, use who.

Example: The word for whom, now apply the test's middle of phrase. What is the middle of phrase? (who, whom) was coming. Supply the word he for whom, and the word whom in front of whom, you have: (who, whom) was coming.

Example: Did he tell (who, whom) was coming?

The word whom is in the nominative case and is either the